Dear Author(s):

Thank you for submitting your Contribution for publication. In order to expedite the editing and publishing process and enable Education & Self Development to disseminate your Contribution to the fullest extent, we need to have this Copyright Agreement signed and returned as directed in the Journal's instructions for authors as soon as possible. If the Contribution is not accepted for publication, or if the Contribution is subsequently rejected, this Agreement shall be null and void. We regret that publication cannot proceed without a copy of this Agreement signed by the lead author of behalf of all of the authors.

A. Copyright

Copyright on any article in Education & Self Development is retained by the author(s). Authors grant Kazan Federal University a licence to publish the article and identify itself as the original publisher.

The author(s) may choose which type of Creative commons licence shall be used:

- CC-BY
- CC-BY-NC
- CC-BY-NC-ND

Full explanations of these are given in the Creative Commons website:
<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/>

Your funding agency may require that you specify a particular licence type. If you are unsure which licence to specify please talk to your funding agency.

We ask that any reproduction, posting, transmission or other distribution or use of the final article in whole or in part in any medium by the author(s) as permitted by this Agreement includes a citation to Education Self Development and an appropriate credit to Kazan Federal University as the original publisher, suitable in form and content as follows: title of article, author, E&SD volume and issue, Kazan Federal University. Links to the final article on the Journal website are encouraged where appropriate.

B. Retained rights

Notwithstanding the above, the author(s) of, if applicable the author's employer(s) retains all proprietary rights other than copyright, such as patented rights in any process, procedure or article of manufacture described in the article.

C. Author's representations

The author represents that the article is the author(s)' original work, all individuals identified as authors actually contributed to the article, and all individuals who contributed are included. If the article was prepared jointly, the author agrees to inform the co-contributors of the terms of this agreement and to obtain their signature to this agreement or their written permission to sign on their behalf. The article is submitted only to Education & Self Development and has not been published before, except for submitted versions as permitted above. (If excerpts from copyrighted works owned by third parties are included, the author(s) will obtain written permission for the copyright owners for all users as set forth in the journal's instructions for contributors, and show credit to the sources in the article.) The author(s) also warrant that the article contains no libellous or unlawful statements, does not infringe upon the rights (including without limitation the copyright, patented to trademark rights) or the privacy of others, or contain material or instructions that might cause harm or injury. The author(s) also agree to indemnify Kazan Federal University against all legal costs and/or damages resulting from any breach of these representations.

Please also put a cross in the following boxes if they apply to your work.

- US Government work. An article prepared by a US federal government employee as part of the employee's official duties, or which is an official US Government publication is called a "US Government work" and is in the public domain in the United States. In such case, the employee may cross out Paragraph A(i) above, but must sign (in the author's signature line) and return this agreement. If the article was not prepared as part of the employee's duties it is not an official US Government publication it is not a US Government work.
- UK Government work (Crown Copyright) The rights in an article prepared by an employee of a UK government department, agency or other Crown body as part of his/her official duties, or which is an official Government publication, belong to the Crown. UK Government authors should submit a signed declaration form together with this Agreement. The form can be obtained via <http://www.opsi.gov.uk/advice/crown-copyright/copyright-guidance/publication-of-articles-written-by-ministers-and-civil-servants.htm>
- Other government work. If you are an employee of another government (not US or UK) and your status legally prevents you from signing this Agreement please contact the Education & Self Development editorial office.
- NIH Grantees. Pursuant to the NIH mandate, Kazan Federal University will post the accepted version of articles authored by NIH grant holders to PubMed Central on acceptance. The accepted version will be made publicly available 12 months after publication.
